

Three historical severe-undercoverage cases

The two source-representation markers are registered components and are not summed. This explains the historical truth-contract mismatch; it does not attribute a guard defect.